My debit card has been compromised 3 times in the last 12 months & so was my checking account. My bank, Parkway Bank & Trust has denied reissuing me a new debit card. I never lost my card & never gave my debit card or my confidential sign ons to this to anyone else...yet somehow this is MY fault according to Parkway Bank & Trust. I have been banking with them for 16 years, & this is the thanks I get! Well.....in my book Parkway Bank & Trust has the worst customer service..... I recommend that you don't bother opening any accounts with them if this is how they treat their long time banking customers! As if I have any control over who clones or sells my debit card or banking information on the dark web? I do 90% of my financial purchases online & scammers apparently are very good at what they do these days. Life sucks!
